

this should be kept a secret so that no one has the terrible food i there are many great thai places in las vegas and there is no need to eat the only plus is that the tiny dining room is hopefully this bodes for them going out of business